

How is the NVIDIA PartnerForce Platinum Rewards Program changing?

NVIDIA is updating from First Data Money Network Visa debit card to XTRM AnyPay™ for all regions, effective December 2016. With the implementation of the new XTRM AnyPay™, current NVIDIA Platinum Rewards U.S. participants do not need to re-enroll in the program, and should keep their existing First Data Money Network Visa debit card until it has no credit balance left available prior to expiration of the card. Funds on the First Data Money Network or Citi Visa debit card are not transferable to another card or account. New credits from December 2016 onwards will be awarded directly to your existing XTRM account, allowing you to log in and choose to transfer to your bank account, PayPal or a variety of digital gift cards, including prepaid virtual Visa and MasterCard. For more information on how to get your PayPal payment, please see PayPal payment instructions. How do I check my balance or see my transaction history?

Upon enrolling in the program and receiving your rewards, you can log in to your personal and secure account at www.xtrm.com at any time to see detailed rewards and balances.

Why do I need to provide my Social Security Number (SSN) during sign up?

For tax reporting purposes, all US residents are required to provide a SSN. Participants who earn more than $600 will receive a 1099 form. Participants who fail to comply or provide accurate information may be terminated from the program. 1099 forms will be issued directly from XTRM, on NVIDIA's behalf.

Why are both my work and personal contact information required?

For tax purposes, NVIDIA is required to issue 1099 forms for any US resident who earns a combined total of $600 or more. To ensure that we can verify your mailing address and other tax information, NVIDIA requires an alternate method of contact should you no longer work for a participating NVIDIA distributor.

What products will be eligible?

Each month, email notifications will be sent to enrolled participants with the current month's incentives. For all sales goals and per-unit incentives, only products from NVIDIA Authorized Board Partners will count. For a list of NVIDIA Authorized Board Partners, please visit http://www.nvidia.com/object/pf_boardpartners.html. Monthly emails will be sent to your work email address as provided on the application form.

How do I get credit for completing PartnerForce Partner Program Online Training?

PartnerForce Partner Program Online Training modules contain a brief quiz and/or survey that you must correctly pass in order to complete the training. After this quiz or survey, you will need to enter your name, company name, and work email address in order to receive credit for completing the training. Credit will not be given if contact information is missing, incomplete, or cannot be matched to an enrolled participant.

How long will it take to process monthly rewards?

Per-unit and goal-based incentives will be awarded 4-6 weeks after close of the incentive month or quarter. Additional time may be required if the participant's employer has not submitted POS Data in a timely manner or the incentive is a custom program that requires additional reporting from the participating distributor. Credits for completing online training will be processed at the end of each month.

I just enrolled in the program. Will I receive credit for the current month?

Yes, as long as you apply within the calendar month for which the incentives are offered, you will receive credit for incentives earned. Credit for past month's incentives will not be awarded retroactively.

What if I dispute the amount of credit loaded for a monthly incentive?

If you feel there is a discrepancy in the amount credited, please email rewards@nvidia.com. Disputes older than 60 days past the month the incentive was offered will not be accepted and are subject to verification against POS data from the participant's employer.
